

I Get to Play at the Children's Museum!

I will have fun when I play at the Children's Museum.

I will make sure I follow the rules:

- I will walk
- I will use a talking voice
- I will have fun

This story will tell me about what I will see at the museum. I can choose where I want to go and play.

Exhibits are areas in the museum that have lots of activities I can play with. When I am playing I need to remember to share with other children in the museum.

There are helpers that work for the museum that keep everyone safe and can help me if I need it. They wear special nametags.

This sign means that an area is very LOUD!

I can wear headphones so that it is quiet.

Welcome to the Children's Museum. This is the front desk. If I need help I can find a museum helper here.

If I need to go to the bathroom there are two places I can go.

This area is all about travelling. In this area it is okay to push any of the buttons on the train, bus, airplane and boat because they are just pretend.

I won't really make it move.

I can pretend to drive a bus!

I can pretend to drive a train!

I can pretend to fly a plane!

I can pretend to drive a boat!

This is Fond du Lac Central.

This area looks like it is by a lake but it's not, it's just pretend.

I can go in the lighthouse and climb to the top, then slide down.

I can also pretend to fish in this area.

I can do many things in this area like draw, color, and if there are glue and scissors, I can do that too!

The art supplies must stay in the art area. I can play with the colored lights on the wall and with the blue blocks.

This area has foam toys to play and build with. I can also go down the slide.

This area is just for little kids, sometimes it is open for all. At Play for All events, I can play in this area.

This is the Great Wall of China.

This is the brick area.

I can build with bricks and stack them.

I can turn a wheel to make them move along the way.

The rule is: the blocks can be in my hands, on the block machine or stacked.

The bricks look heavy but they are made from foam so they are light. I will be able to pick them up.

Here are more building areas.
I can stack the sticks or put them in a line.
I can make something on the table or right next to the table on the floor.

This is the Ball Wall.

In this area I can put a ball in the funnel and watch it fall down the slides. It is fun to watch them slide but it may be loud.

I can also turn the wheel to make the balls move. If I throw these balls someone will get hurt.

The rule is: no throwing.

LOUD

There is a pretend oven. It stays cold.
There is a pretend sink. There isn't any water.
There are pizza slices made out of wood.
There are plates and cups.

This is a pretend pizza restaurant. I can make a pizza and serve it to someone at a table.

The rule is: nothing from this area goes in my mouth. It is pretend.

This is Bull and Bear Market.

I can use the touch screens to learn about Stock Exchange.

I can listen to clues to help me play the game.

Palace of Persia

This is Palace of Persia.

I can gather pretend vegetables from the garden.

I can set the table to have a pretend dinner.

I can also dress up with the costumes.

I can ride the magic carpet.

Here is the BrainMatters exhibit.

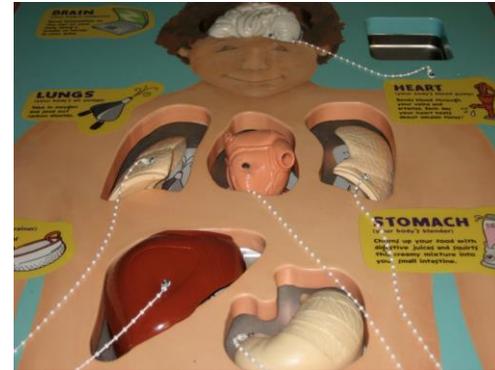

I can make healthy choices to light up the brain and send a scarf soaring through the brain like neurons.

I will need to reach far into a hole to send a scarf through.

In this room, I will learn about a healthy body. I can do things like climb, crawl and pull myself up with my arms.

This game helps me know about things in my body. It is like a puzzle. I will take the object and try to find the right spot it fits in the puzzle board.

This is the shadow room.

It works best when it is very dark inside.

I can push a button to flash a special light. The light captures my shadow on the wall.

I can draw on the wall with the special pen attached to the wall.

Here is the fire truck.

It is a pretend fire truck,
and it does not move.

There are lights, but no
sirens.

I can pretend to drive the truck. I can play dress-up with the firefighter clothes.

LOUD

The Puppet Theater is where I can put on a show.

I can use the puppets to act out a story.

I can press the buttons to hear a story that will be loud enough for me and my caregivers to hear.

This is the Money Exchange. It is a pretend bank.

I can press buttons to see how long it would take to save money for things.

This is a radio station. I can make lots of noises here using buttons and my voice.

I can also play outside of the Museum.

I must have an adult with me when I go outside.

Outside, there are different buildings I can play in called shanties.

This is the music shanty, called SCALES.

I can use the drum sticks to hit the different musical instruments inside and outside of the shanty.

It can be very noisy when playing in here.

This is the quilt shanty.
It is called the Stitching Hole.

In here, I can make patterns with magnets.

There is also fabric
I can add to the loom.

In here, I can pretend to go ice fishing.

This is the fishing shanty. It is called Sturgeon for Tomorrow.

This is the garden area. It is called Shoots and Laughter.

In spring and summer, vegetables and flowers grow here.

I can look at the plants and I can touch them.

I might find a butterfly in the butterfly garden.

The garden area also has a green house shanty. The door will be locked and that is okay. This shanty is where the garden tools are stored.

These are scarecrows. I can dress them as if I were playing dress up.

I can put faces, hats, and clothing on them.

Outside, I can also ride the bikes.

The rule is: I must stay on the path.

When I am all done playing at the museum I must wait at the door until an adult can walk outside with me.

The doors open by themselves so I must wait to go through them.
